

House manual

We hope you have a relaxing and enjoyable stay. Here you will find the practical information that makes the chalet and the area easier to use — arrival, how things work, and what to do before you leave. If anything breaks, is missing or does not work, get in touch and we will sort it out as quickly as we can.

1 Arrival and smart lock

Check-in is from 15:00, and you check in yourself using the smart lock — there is no need to meet anyone.

1. The door code is sent by Airbnb message before arrival.
2. Wave your hand across the keypad to wake the buttons.
3. Enter the code, then press the open-padlock symbol.

4. You do not need a key for the chalet itself — the lock works on the code.
5. To lock the door, sweep your hand across the keypad. Remember the code so you can get back in.
6. The white key cards in the hallway open the road barrier.
7. The garage remote and the key to the annexe also hang in the hallway. Please use them during your stay and hang them back before you leave.
8. The driveway down to the garage is steep. Take it slowly, especially in snow and ice — there is also good parking across the road.

Tip: If you need an early check-in or late check-out, send us a message in good time. We are flexible when the chalet is free.

2 Salt-water hot tub

The hot tub is an Arctic Spa with a salt-water system. It is kept at bathing temperature all year, around the clock, so it is ready when you arrive. We check the water values before every arrival — if the water still does not look right, please tell us.

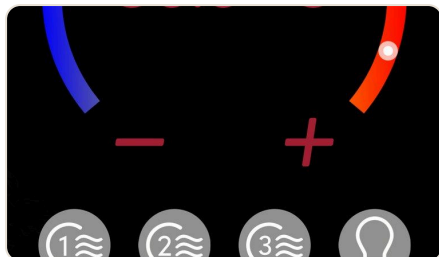

1. Slide the cover off carefully and place it on the cover lifter — not on the ground or in the snow.
2. Good hygiene matters: shower and wash thoroughly before getting in. Rinse off soap, shampoo and lotions — they upset the water balance.
3. Temperature and jets are set on the panel on the tub itself.
4. Put the cover back on as soon as you are done, otherwise the temperature drops and power use rises.
5. Please do not bring glass, toys or other objects into the tub.
6. If you have used the spa during your stay: add about one capful of Spa Shock (kept in the garage), run all the pumps at full until they stop by themselves, and close the cover. That rebalances the water for the next guest.

Tip: The salt water is gentle on skin and hair, but swimwear may fade over time — just like in any spa.

3 Sauna

The sauna is in the ground-floor bathroom, and it heats up quickly.

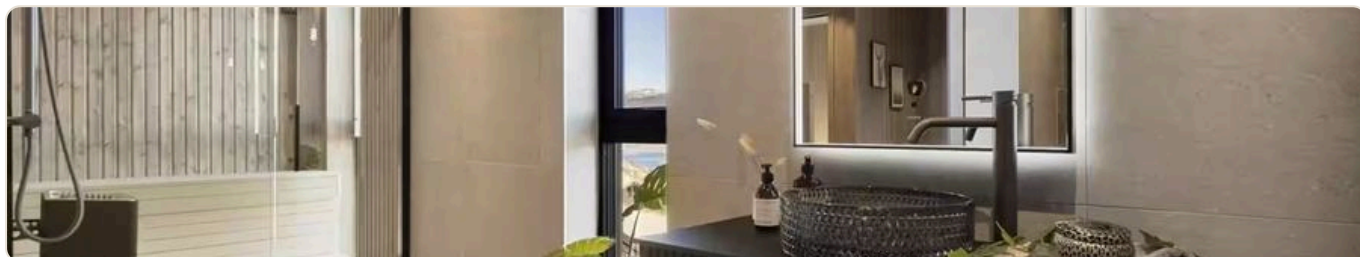

1. Scan the QR code below to see how to switch it on.
2. Always sit on a towel.
3. Water on the stones: use the ladle, a little at a time.
4. Never dry clothes or boots inside the sauna — it is a fire hazard.

Tip: Sauna first, then hot tub, then the outdoor shower — that is the order our guests recommend.

4 The fireplace

The fireplace in the living room is safe to use, but please read these steps before your first fire.

1. Open the damper fully before lighting.
2. Place firelighters at the bottom, then thin logs in a cross pattern.

3. Light it, leave the door slightly ajar for a couple of minutes, then close it.
4. Once burning well, push the damper halfway in.
5. Never add more than three logs at a time, and never leave the fire unattended.
6. Ash goes in a bin bag with the general waste — but only once it is completely cold.

Tip: The chalet has smoke alarms but no carbon monoxide alarm at present. Air the room well if smoke comes back in, and never leave the fire burning while you sleep.

5 Heating and air conditioning

The chalet has three sources of heat, each controlled separately.

1. Fresh air and ventilation are controlled from the panel at the bottom of the stairs in the hallway.
2. The heat pump in the living room, which both heats and cools, has its own remote control.
3. The thermostats in the bedrooms control the underfloor heating in that room.
4. 20–22 °C in the living room is comfortable.
5. Keep windows and the terrace door closed while heating or cooling is running.

Tip: Turn it down rather than off when you head out for the day — that uses less power than heating up from cold.

6 Kitchen and appliances

The kitchen is fully equipped for cooking for the whole group.

1. The hob is induction, so pans need a magnetic base — the ones in the drawer work.
2. Dishwasher: tablets are under the sink, and the Auto programme handles most loads well.
3. Coffee: both filter coffee and a coffee machine. The coffee is in the cupboard next to the coffee maker.
4. The kitchen tap gives boiling water.
5. Anything in the dry-goods cupboard and the fridge is yours to use.
6. Please leave the fridge switched on when you go.

Tip: There are two bottles of wine in the wine cabinet, and you are welcome to enjoy them. We only ask that you replace them with the same number of bottles before you leave, so we can keep the arrangement going. The barbecue on the terrace is a charcoal grill — charcoal is usually in the garage, but it can run out, so bring a bag if you can.

7 TV, Wi-Fi and sound

The living room TV is a smart TV. You are welcome to sign in to your own streaming accounts — just remember to sign out before you leave.

1. There is a TV in the living room downstairs and in the lounge upstairs. The upstairs TV has a surround system.
2. The Wi-Fi name and password are at the top of this page.
3. The chalet has a Sonos sound system, with speakers in the living room and outside by the barbecue.
4. Easiest way to play music: connect your phone to the Wi-Fi and cast from your own streaming service.
5. If the internet drops, send us a message on Airbnb and we will help.

8 Robot vacuum

The chalet has a Roborock that both vacuums and mops. Use it as much as you like during your stay.

1. Press the ON button on the robot and it starts vacuuming and mopping by itself.
2. If the dock shows a red light: empty the dirty-water tank and refill the clean-water tank.
3. You can carry the robot upstairs. Put it down where you want it to work and press ON.

Tip: Setting it going before you leave is a real help — the chalet is then well on its way for the next guest.

9 Annexe and toys

The annexe is yours to use, and the toys in there are there for our guests to borrow.

1. The key to the annexe hangs in the hallway.
2. The storage room on the second floor is private and not for guest use.
3. Chargers that belong to the chalet should stay in the room they belong to.

10 Skis, boots and drying

With ski-in/ski-out you come straight off the slope and inside — which means there needs to be a place for all the wet gear.

1. Skis, poles and boards go in the garage, or against the wall by the parking area.
2. Ski boots and gear hang in the utility room — it is the best place in the house for drying clothes.
3. The first aid kit is in the utility room as well.
4. Please take ski boots off before going into the living room.

11 Parking, garage and EV charging

There is free parking on the property for five cars, plus a garage with an EV charger.

1. The driveway to the garage is steep — take it slowly, especially in snow and ice.
2. The garage door opens with the “Harmonie” remote hanging in the hallway.
3. The EV charger has a fixed type 2 cable at 5 kW, and charging is free for guests.
4. The chalet has its own extra spaces across the road, just above the driveway. Do use them, especially when there is a lot of snow.

12 Waste and recycling

Waste goes to the sorting station down by the barrier.

1. Sort your waste following the labels on the containers.
2. Take the bags down with you; please do not leave them outside the chalet.
3. Take the full waste bag out when you leave, even after a short stay.

The waste station

13 Before you leave

Check-out is by 11:00. You do not need to clean, but this short list helps us a lot.

1. Kitchen: start the dishwasher, and clear the fridge of food you brought.
2. Bed linen: please strip the beds and put a load in the washing machine. It saves us time getting ready for the next guest.
3. Leave used towels in the shower or the bathroom basket.
4. Replace any wine you drank from the wine cabinet.
5. Put the cover back on the hot tub and switch off the sauna.
6. Set the temperature back to normal and close all windows and the terrace door.
7. Start the robot vacuum.
8. Hang the garage remote, the annexe key and the barrier cards back in the hallway.
9. Turn off the lights, sign out of streaming services, and check you have all your belongings.
10. Close the front door properly and check that it has locked.

Tip: Left something behind? Send us a message and we will work out how to get it back to you.

House rules

This chalet is our home, and we rent it out because we want more people to experience Voss. These rules are here so that both you and the next guest have a good stay.

Check-in and check-out

Check-in after 15:00, check-out before 11:00. We are flexible when the chalet is free — just message us in good time.

Maximum 9 guests

Everyone must be listed in the booking, children included. Daytime visitors are fine — just let us know.

Quiet hours

Please be considerate of the neighbours and keep it quiet inside and outside between 23:00 and 07:00.

No parties

The chalet is not suitable for parties or events. A relaxed evening with the people staying here is of course welcome.

No smoking indoors

Smoking is not allowed inside, including bedrooms and bathrooms. Outside is fine — please dispose of cigarette ends carefully.

Hot tub and sauna

Shower before use, no glass in or near the hot tub, and always put the cover back on afterwards. Children must be supervised.

Fireplace and candles

Follow the instructions in the house manual. Never leave a fire or candle unattended, and put everything out before bed.

Shoes off indoors

Leave ski gear and shoes in the hallway, not in the living room.

Private storage

The whole chalet is yours, and so is the annexe. The storage room on the second floor is private and not for guest use.

Damage and accidents

Accidents happen. Tell us straight away and we will sort it out together — much better than the next guest finding it.

A few more practical things

- There is free parking on the property for five cars, and an EV charger in the garage. Charging is included for guests.
- The driveway to the garage is steep and can be demanding in heavy snow. There is also parking across the road.
- The chalet has smoke alarms. A carbon monoxide alarm is not currently installed.
- There is no video surveillance inside or outside the property.
- Pets: send us a message before booking so we can confirm.
- Cancellation terms follow the Airbnb listing.

Questions during your stay? Send us a message on Airbnb — we normally reply within an hour.
